

BIG TECH, CENSORSHIP, & DATA TASK FORCE

E&C Republican Leader Cathy McMorris Rodgers

House Republicans will empower parents to ensure their kids are safe online and work to stop Big Tech's abuse of children.

Empower Parents to Protect Their Kids

To ensure parents can protect their kids online, House Republicans will provide parents with critical tools and information.

Tools For Parents:

- Equip parents with tools necessary to ensure their kids are safe online, such as the ability to monitor their use of social media, put time limits on such use, and be notified if their child is engaged in certain activity, without enabling Big Tech to collect and share more of their information;
- Ensure parents can request and certify all information about their child collected by Big Tech be deleted;
- Limit what data Big Tech can collect, share, and use on children by restricting their handling of information with penalties;
- Raise the age of children covered under the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act;
- Require Big Tech to have a user-friendly process that allows parents to reach out for help if their child is experiencing cyberbullying;
- Reform Section 230 to allow parents to hold Big Tech accountable when they knowingly facilitate illegal activity, such as illegal drug sales and child trafficking and exploitation; and
- Support policies to protect our youth from adult online content.

Warning Labels:

- Include warning labels for certain Big Tech products and services as it relates to certain risks and harms of using such products and services.
